

Plagiarism

All irregularities, including plagiarism, piracy or use of data without permission of the authors and/or publishers, offense against individual or moral persons, etc..., noticed or not by the Editorial Board and/or reviewers in the various journals of the Scientific Institute, are severely condemned. The author (or authors) has (or have) to assume his (or their) full responsibility. Otherwise, even if an article (or any work) is published in a journal of the Scientific Institute and if there is evidence of plagiarism after the publication of the article (or work), the article (or work) will be definitively removed from the journal, where it is published. In addition, the diver journals of the Scientific Institute, will never accept to publish articles or works of the author (or authors) of plagiarism.
